Winter Tips

- Insulate exposed pipes using pipe sleeves or heat tape to maintain higher temperatures within the pipes.
- Seal gaps and cracks in walls, windows, and doors to prevent cold air from entering your home and reaching the pipes.
- Keep your thermostat set no lower than 55 degrees fahrenheit, especially during severe cold weather or when you're away from home.
- Allow faucets connected to exposed pipes to drip slowly during extremely cold weather to relieve pressure within the pipes.
- Open cabinet doors to allow warm air to circulate around pipes located in cabinets, especially those near exterior walls.
- Disconnect and drain outdoor hoses and sprinkler systems before freezing temperatures, and close shut-off valves to prevent freezing and bursting.
